Oh dear, oh dear, and do you hear the news that's going round? The shamrock has been made to grow in foreign ground. They thought they couldn't do it where the soil or climate harms, but they're growing by the hundred in a yard up in West Farms. ON FIFTH AVENUE OVER BEER CAN

Growler as Weapon After Neighbor's Faux Pas.

Never interfere with a lady when she is walking along Fifth avenue on her way to purchase her regular evening pint of beer. Mrs. Ellen Kelleher violated this rule last night and produced as Exhibit A in Hariem Court, against Mrs. Mary Corcoran, to-day a gash that started on her left cheek under the eye and travelled across to-the same location on the right cheek, bisecting the

LAWYER GETS OUT WRIT

Physician Arrested for Refusing to Pay Double Fare Is Illegally Held.

The 10-cent fare robbery of the B R. T. was brought suddenly before the courts to-day when Justice William J. Gaynor, of the Appellate Division, issued a writ of habeas corpus to the police for Dr. Thomas J. MacFarlane, a physician, of No. 423 Forty-fifth street, Brooklyn, arrested for refusing to pay the double fare between Coney Island and Brooklyn.

Dr. MacFarlane was coming from Coney Island on the Culver route after making some professional calls. At Avenue P the conductor came through the train collecting the extra five-cent fare. The physician is a reader of The Evening World, and had been following the fight made by this newspaper to establish "a five-cent fare from the city to the sea."

Refused to Pay Again. "I have paid my legal fare," said Dr. McFarlane when asked for the se ond nickel. "I shall not pay it again." The conductor threatened to eject him. The physician refused to back down Mrs. Corcoran Admits Using He was extremely cook but the several trainmen, who laid hands upon the physician at Twenty-second and Gravesend avenues.

The car was in an uproar. Other pay-sengers backed up the physician. There was a special officer in citizen's clothes on the train, and the conductor de-manded that he arrest Dr. MacFarlane. The policeman took the physician from the train, while the crowd hooted and yelled.

Dr. McParlane, after the train had gone on, demanded the privilege of telephoning his counsel, Stephen C. Baidwin, who recently appeared before the Scate Railroad Commission, representing Borough Pressdent Bird S. Coler in The Evening World's fight for a five-cent fare in the borough of Brooklyn.

DIDN'T KNOW OF FIRE IN STORE

Fierce Blaze at Macy's Extinguished with House Apparatus.

An illustration of the perfection of the safeguards against fire in the modthousands at Thirty-fourth street and Broadway this afternoon by a fire on the south side of the sixth floor Macy's. The blaze was fierce while it lasted, and made a lot of smoke and excitement, but automatic extinguishers and fireproof walls conquered it before it had a chance to spread.

It had a chance to spread.

A storeroom for women's and children's suits was the scene of the fire, which started in a pile of packing material from some unknown cause. There were no customers in this room and none is the immediate vicinity on the sixth floor.

As soon as the fire was discovered the fireproof doors were closed and the blaze was isolated. The automatic sprinklers got busy right away, but there was considerable smoke pouring from the windows when the firemen arrived.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 customers in the store got their first notification of the blaze from the clanging of bells and blowing of whistles on the fire apparatus. There was no panic. A majority of the customers did not leave the store at all. The dameare will amount to between $5,000 and $8,000.
